

Finding your child's reading level

It is always best to start with the reading level that your child's school has determined is right for them. You can easily find this by looking on the back of one of the colour band books they bring home from school. See below for examples.

Rising Stars Reading Planet

Galaxy

GOLD
Reading Planet Level 9

The Cloud Dragon

No-Wings is a dragon who can't fly.
Toby is a boy who has no friends.
How can they stop a battle between the dragons and humans?

More books in the series

What We Wore

Animal Sanctuary Doggy Drama

My Arctic Blog

The Mystery of the Lost Hunter

My How to Be Happy Scrapbook

Publishing company is good to know.

RISING STARS
www.risingstarsreadingplanet.com

Fantasy story

ISBN 978-1-5104-4149-1

9 781510 441491

Publishers display the colour band on the back cover and some also give a level. If you don't have access to any of the book banded readers from school or you can't easily find the information, that is no problem! We will sensibly calculate the reading level to start them on based on their age and the time in the school year (as phonics is like a ladder of learning letters and sounds, we know which sounds they are likely to have covered already and which ones they will be learning next). We can then tweak the level after they get started so it is just right for them.